Number 31

Farewell Party For Elder Lincoln Wood

A large crowd gathered in the High School Gymnasium on Friday night last in honor of the departure of Lincoln Wood for his mission to France. The following program was carried out, many of the numbers being cheered by the enthusiastic and appreciative audience present:

Vocal Quartette—F. R. Taylor, P. H. Redd, Ira McBride and B. J. Coombs.
Reading, "My Sister's Wedding"—Miss Virginia Zabriskie.
Guitar Duett—Miss Millie Romeril and Wm. Burrows.
Remarks and Missionary Experience—M. T. King.
Vocal Solo, "Little Boy of Mine"—Mrs. Marian Brown.
Reading, "The Proposal"—Mrs. G. W. Evans.
Remarks and Experience—J. W. Evans.

Vocal Solo "Can't Remember"—Mrs. Emma Burr.
Remarks and Experiences—Bishop H. F. Allen.
Remarks by the guest of honor—Lincoln Wood.

Remarks by the Missionary's father—T. C. Wood.

Chairman Ed Stone thanked all present for the attendance, and thanked those who had taken part on the program for their splendid numbers. The crowd then adjourned to the Gymnasium where the Key Kids dispensed music for an hour and a half of dancing, enjoyed by all, during which time refreshments were served.

A collection was taken up during the dance and Lincoln received a nice sum to help him on his way.

The Band was also present and played preceding the program, and played a couple of numbers in the Gymnasium, where they bid adieu to Lincoln who has been a member for some years, and whose steadfastness in practice attendance and his good work on the cornet has been appreciated by all his fellow band members.

Welling News

The wind still blows and the weather is cold, but harvesting is going on the same. Beet hauling in full swing. The farmers who have grain still in the field are hoping that winter will hold off.

Mrs. Karl Williams was a week-end visitor in Cardston. Several people attended Priesthood meeting in Raymond last Sunday in spite of the wet weather.

The M. I. A. Open House Social was held on Monday. Tommy Allen's orchestra furnished the music. The hall was nicely decorated with autumn flowers. A tasty lunch was served. The large crowd enjoyed itself immensely and expects other such good times during the winter.

Mrs. Ray Bullock and infant son returned home from Lethbridge on Sunday.

On Friday a spicy program put on by the Junior Room was enjoyed by the whole school. The little tots displayed unusual talent. Those on the program were: Carl by Lena and Murray Bullock, recitation—Lee Bullock sang Lillian Bullock; play of Simon and the Elves—Gladys H. recited on—Hazel Bullock sang Florence Wilde; story—Inez Wilde sang—Rosie Melner.

Mutual is starting in the Ward. The meetings will be held Sunday evenings until after beet harvest.

Annual Meeting Of Athletic Association

The annual meeting of the Raymond Athletic Association is called for the High School Thursday evening, October 12, at 8 p.m. and a good crowd is asked to be present.

The sports program for the coming winter will be discussed and decided upon, and those in charge are desirous that a representative crowd be present, so that what sports are decided on can be planned and organized and put over in a satisfactory manner to the Association, the players and the fans. Be on hand on October 12th at 8 p.m.

Era Drive Planned For Next Week

Commencing next Monday, Oct. 9th, the annual Era Drive will be commenced in the two Raymond wards, with Mrs. Zina Anderson and Walter Fairbanks taking charge of it in the Second Ward, and Earl Bascom, and an assistant yet to be named directing the drive in the First Ward. Every home in the town will be visited either by these people or their representatives, and the folks are asked to get ready now to renew or subscribe to this splendid magazine.

As in the past, the Era will carry material for the entire family, including stories, articles on the topics of the day, and material for the Mutual organizations and the Priesthood Committees of the Church, it being the official organ for all of these Committees. There is also a course the "Art of Conversation" which will be studied in the Mutual this winter, and the Era offers the only opportunity on this course as there is no other course as there is no prepared Manual.

Remember, the drive starts next Monday, and the directors would appreciate it greatly if people would be ready for them when they call.

Thanksgiving

(Written especially for the Recorder by Rev. F. A. Foote)

Someone has said that gratitude is the stamp of a gentleman, since it indicates nobility of character. If so, then to recognize the generosity of a beneficent Providence, in terms of heartfelt thanks, is to manifest a highly desirable magnanimity of soul. Thanksgiving is a reciprocal harmonious act between the creature and the Creator. Praise and thanksgiving are the soul's pent-up expression of love. On the contrary, ingratitude and criticism are concomitants of hate. If there should be a currency in heaven surely grateful thanksgiving should be it unfading beautiful coin, recognized and honored by all.

Despite the maladjustments of the social order, are we not, comparatively speaking, the spoiled and pampered children of a very indulgent Father? We have the blessings of peace. All around are nationalistic nations, seething cauldrons of militarism in a war-crazed world, waiting but for a spark of a pretext to explode into havoc and disaster. Again, despite the instability of prices, the crash of stocks, the rise and fall of securities, few if any of us are in dire want of life's necessities. Who among us has tasted the pang of famine? It is true also that the first wealth is health. Our greatest enemy today is lack of patience and of courage. If we would but count our blessings, and their number is legion, instead of brooding over our real and imaginary misfortunes, perhaps Southern Alberta is the nearest thing to Paradise on earth. Generously we have received, let us be generous in our thanksgivings.

There is more than a grain of truth in saying that perhaps we have gauged our happiness and success in the past by material emoluments. Perhaps our attention has been unduly or even exclusively focused on material things, and our energies directed solely in their acquisition. Are there not other truer values in life—those character forming, soul-developing things, which, purged of dross and rank materialism remain when "life's fitful fever is o'er"? In our present day parlance the mechanics of the spiritual life that appertain to the very heart and core of the purpose of our existence are made secondary considerations. In our feverish, impatient bustle for material success and achievement, are we not apt to overlook the one worthwhile achievement, the broadening of our hearts, the refinement of our soul, by adversity? In our hurry to grasp the latest, do we not overlook the oldest? In our anxiety for the glittering baubles of pleasure, the doubtful advantages of unearned ease, the phantoms of get-rich-quick comforts; do we not forget at times, life's simple domestic comforts, and even the rights of God?

Making no pretext of being a self-constituted Jeremiah hurling execrations of righteousness at all and sundry, I speak of nothing save that which is potent—the unmistakable signs of the times. What are they? The abandonment of all save animality in man; the sacrifice of conscience to the dollar; a fomenting world, reeking with the nauseating atmosphere of its own deified vice; where marriage is a toy—modesty is a jest cloaked with the mockery of a lie, known as sophistication; where virtue is tantamount to a curiosity; where honesty, pharasaically inculcated in little things, is ceremoniously, brazenly, laid aside in larger things; where man gloriously exploits his fellow man and laughs over his victory, attributing his vice to his much vaunted pseudo-business ability.

The very mechanical progress toward perfection that should bring man into closer union with his neighbor in bonds of fraternity and charity, find perverted use to stir the very abysses of suspicion and class-hatred.

Yet science and progress have never been God's enemy! What is the solution, the panacea? "The fault, dear Brutus, is not in our stars, but in ourselves, that we are underlings," says Cassius to Brutus in a Shakespearean play. If we make our God; selfishness our end; and lust for pleasure their prophet, then indeed we head for destruction.

The answer lies in the opposite direction. Let us be satisfied with our lot in life, grateful to Providence in whose kind hands are our destinies. By acquiring habits of thrift, cheerfulness, facing difficulties, patience and constancy in the pursuit of our vocation, we bring out the finer calibre of our lives. The material for grumbling is "hatched" largely in the minds of our leaders. We master things not by possessing, but by rising superior to them. Love is sacrifice and sacrifice probes the magnificent depths of moral valor. Sow an act and reap a habit, sow a habit and reap a character, sow a character and reap a destiny.

In the midst of our social and moral anarchy where men set up their own false gods, with thankful hearts let us turn to Our Father. Despite the labyrinth of seemingly inextricable difficulties we shall find then a happy outlet by our obedient and orderly lives. By curbing a little our pleasure-seeking nature, by ruling out self-pity and the compromising spirit of cowardice, allowing no obstacle to retard our progress, at each Thanksgiving Day we shall number the milestones of the years earning and laying up an increment that time will not destroy, that even death cannot remove, and that will be our pledge of glory in a world to come.

ATTENTION!

The School Fair Prize List is in the office and should have appeared this week, but due to lack of space, it with some other local news must wait until next week.

You are sure to like the Big Double Bill at the Capitol this week-end, "THE DEVIL IS DRIVING," and "MAN OF THE FOREST." Be sure and see them at Regular Prices.

Talk about your Indian summer. Even California couldn't beat the brand of weather we had on Sunday, Monday and Tuesday.

Spencer Young, brother-in-law of the Brewerton family, took part Sunday evening last in a dramatization of the Assassination of Joseph Smith which was broadcast over KSL. Mr. Young played the part of Hyrum Smith. Those who heard the program report it as very interesting.

Beet Harvest Is Progressing Nicely

Pres. E. W. Beatty Visits Raymond

President E. W. Beatty and party spent a few quiet hours in Raymond and district last Thursday afternoon on his annual visit of the C. P. R.'s holdings and interests in Western Canada.

While here the party were the guests of Mr. Rogers and the management of the Factory, and following a lunch at the Club House, they visited the Factory and watched the making of Sugar from the beets to the finished product, visiting also some beet fields where they watched the digging. They also visited some farms where annual beef feeding takes place.

Mr. Beatty expressed himself as interested in the Sugar beet industry, and expressed the hope that the industry would see further development in Southern Alberta.

INTERESTING PROGRAM SUNDAY EVENING

Very interesting programs were held in both Raymond wards on Sunday evening last, when the Era Directors of the wards had the planning of the programs.

The special subject of the evening was "The Improvement Era," and the following took part:

First Ward
Talks on the subject were given by Solon Low and Byron Vance.

Readings by Mrs. L. Brandley and Mrs. L. Hicken, and a Retold story by Mrs. Zella P. Woolley.

Musical numbers included, 2 Vocal Solos by Mrs. D. A. Watson, with orchestra accompaniment; Berenice Solo by Grant Broadhead, and a Violin Solo with Cello Obligato and Piano Accompaniment by Mr. Murray of Lethbridge, who was the guest artist of the evening.

SECOND WARD
Talks were given by L. L. Baker, Chas. O. Asplund and Bruce Galbraith, and Miss W. G. Deville presented and led in the recitation of the new Song, "Walter Fairbanks," of the Era Subscription Committee, which led by and outlined the subscription campaign.

Readings by Mrs. L. D. King and Mrs. L. D. King and two "M" Men and Chorus were given by these groups.

There was good attendance in both wards, and everyone thoroughly enjoyed the very splendid programs presented.

Rayleigh and Harold Jensen, of the Actna district were here last Monday.

Mrs. Leech had as house guest on Wednesday some of the sisters from the St. Michael's Hospital in Lethbridge.

Lincoln Wood left Wednesday morning for Salt Lake City, on his way to the French Mission.

A heavy slaughter of chickens and turkeys is likely for Thanksgiving Day on Monday.

A. E. Hancock was a Lethbridge visitor on business the last of the week.

L. D. and Louis King, Roscoe Larson and Mrs. Will Fisher were in Lethbridge last Saturday afternoon, with the Ford V8 to be given away at the Big Double Bill at the Capitol next month and selling tickets on it.

With the very favorable weather, the beet harvest has been pushed rapidly in all parts of the district, and up to the end of the week, 37,000 tons of beets had been harvested, and four good days this week, will have brought the total up to around 45 & 50,000 tons harvested now. The beets are in good shape, and the yield is just about what the Factory officials estimated, although some of the fields are a little below the expectations of the growers, especially where the fields were allowed to get to dry between irrigations.

The mill is having a very successful run, and nearly every day since they hit their stride they have made in the neighborhood of 1,300 tons sliced in each 24 hours, and several days they have sliced 1,330 tons, which requires a steady run, and means a good sized pile of sugar in a day. As far as can be learned the bulk storage bin and the machinery therein is working satisfactorily, and fulfilling the highest expectations of the owners of the mill.

Wedding Bells Ring

A quiet wedding was solemnized in Lethbridge on Saturday last, when Miss Lavere, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Mehew, became the bride of Afton Eugene Terry, son of Mrs. Agnes Terry. The parents of the bride, and Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Tollstrup, witnessed the ceremony, and accompanied the young couple to the city and home again.

On Monday last week, the bride was the honored guest at a party and shower sponsored by the Primary officers of the First Ward, in which organization she has been a faithful worker for several years. She was the recipient of many useful and beautiful gifts. The young couple will make their home in Raymond where the groom has work with a truck. The best wishes of the people of the district are extended to them for a long and happy married life.

News Notes

Rev. Foote was in Barons and Coalhurst on Sunday, and visited in Magrath on Tuesday.

The Carnival Car was in the South country between here and Coult on Monday, where the Ticket Sale was pushed on it.

"CENTRAL AIRPORT" and "ALONG CAME RUTH" at the Capitol Thanksgiving night, 10 and 25c. See them both.

Miss Lolla Williams of Cardston is spending a few days here with Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Snow.

King's Kanadians are playing for a Thanksgiving Dance in Barnwell next Monday evening, October 9th.

You are sure to like the Big Double Bill at the Capitol this week-end, "THE DEVIL IS DRIVING," and "MAN OF THE FOREST." Be sure and see them at Regular Prices.

Wilson McCarthy, son of Mrs. Chas. McCarthy, has resigned from the Reconstruction Finance Corp. in the States, where he has had charge of the agricultural end of this business, and is returning to private life, expecting to live in California.

THANKSGIVING

"Not in the customary spirit of feasting, to the point of gluttony, but in the spirit of gratitude and Thanksgiving, let us pause this year to count our many blessings, and as the song says, 'It will surprise you what the Lord has done.'"

We have much to be grateful for, and while the problem of caring for the poor and needy becomes burdensome at times, to many, still while we are blest with plenty, we should be willing to divide with those less fortunate, for the Savior's advice was "Freely ye have received, freely give," and while this may have applied to the knowledge and understanding of the scriptures, could be applied equally well to our present conditions materially, for in His hands are all the corners of the earth, and "The Lord giveth and the Lord taketh away, Blessed be the name of the Lord." We are only stewards, and in fulfilling the command, Feed My Sheep we should remember that while man should not live by bread alone, but by every word that cometh forth out of the mouth of God, still it is useless to see one hungry and cold, and say unto them be ye warmed and filled, and give nothing of this world's goods to minister to their wants.

We appreciate the splendid article contributed for this issue by Father Foote, and commend it to our readers. One cannot help but feel after reading this that we do have very much for which we should be thankful to an all wise Creator.

May we all grow to a greater appreciation of the manifold and multiplicity of blessings which we are enjoying from day to day and from year to year, and because of this grow in gratitude and love to God and our fellow man.

CAREFUL DRIVING NEEDED

If there is such a thing as a fortunate accident, Raymond had one last week when the car and the truck came together at the Standard Bank corner, without serious injury to either vehicle, and without injury to any person. That is the fortunate part of it.

Without any desire to take part in any controversy, this occurrence has been the cause of a great deal of criticism, and talk, and brings up a great many questions. One is, does the stop sign mean what it says, or does it just stand there as a symbol of what we would like done, without demanding obedience from motorists? As far as we can see, about the only one who ever stops at the sign is the stranger within our gates who presumes, and probably has learned from experience in other cities and towns, that stop signs mean stop.

This corner is dangerous, and this fact goes without argument. Now, then, how can it be made safer. The stop sign should be sufficient, but it is not. With the beet harvest on, and heavily laden beet trucks coming down this road, and with a tendency to cut the corners, the danger is intensified. One good suggestion is to plant a good big standard at the intersection of these four streets, and then no one would have any chance for argument about where they were in case of an accident. Some claim a strong enough dead man cannot be erected. Cement and scrap iron will make a target that will cause any motorist to do his utmost to keep away from colliding with it. Let's try it.

Before someone is killed, let us try and make this corner safe for all and a trap to none.

DON'T MAKE YOUR HOME TOWN THE GOAT

Those who think of their town only as a good place to sleep in should wake up to a full realization of what community cooperation really means. How it will benefit them and help make them more prosperous.

The prosperity of your town means your prosperity.

As your town grows, opportunities broaden. If your town stands still, you stand still. Community prosperity means individual prosperity; community growth means individual growth. You can't grow a giant oak in a flower pot—you can't expect a whale to live in a puddle—and you can't grow more prosperous in a town where the people do not cooperate in fostering community growth!

When you buy elsewhere you are not fair to your own home town.

You are impeding its progress! Keep your money in your own home town where it will do you the most good. The success of your local merchants means as much to you as it does to them.

Catch the Community Boost Spirit.

Every little penny spent with your own home town merchants helps your town to grow in strength and prosperity.

When you allow the benefit of your purchasing power to accrue to other communities, you are making your town the goat.

Keep the Home Dollars at Home!—Nanton News.

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK?

By Edson R. Waite

GOV. GENERAL FRANK MURPHY OF THE PHILIPPINE ISLANDS, SAYS:

"Enlightened and progressive government will be concerned with the economic and social conditions under which the millions of humble citizens live and toil for their daily bread. It will be anxious to know the reasons for gross inequalities and social injustices, wherever they may be found, and study them and apply proper and effective measures to correct them. It will constantly aim to prevent and suppress practices and institutions whereby men, when so disposed, are able to take unfair advantage of their fellows, rob them of a just share of the fruits of their labors, and deprive them of the means and opportunities of self-advancement."

"With every agency and instrumentality available to it, with all the right and power at its command, with a resolute and unflinching determination that will not be balked by stagnant tradition or narrow prejudice or selfish indifference, it will seek to help the underprivileged, to protect the weak and untutored against the strong and unscrupulous; and it will seek to make education, healthful living conditions, fair and impartial justice, steady employment at a fair wage, adequate care of the sick and indigent, and all the other benefits of civilized society, available to every man, woman, and child.

"In short, it will be the business of government, while keeping its own house in order, to wage relentless and unceasing war on human exploitation, ignorance, disease, dishonesty, and injustice in every form, whether it be economic, or social, political or moral, in order that every man among us may enjoy for himself and his family the full blessings of true liberty and enlightened democracy."

"There is urgent need in government for administrative ability, but there is also urgent need for human understanding and sympathy. To look upon government as a mere business problem is to see it only in part."

PEDIGREE POULTRY BREEDING

(Experimental Farms Note)
In poultry breeding there seems to be a tendency to believe that, mating a male out of a high record dam to hens which themselves have high records, will give the final product and spell success; however, the most thoughtful breeders believe that high egg production is not a definite character, but is rather the result of a combination of several production characters, each of which is distinct and inheritable.

Among these characters may be mentioned precocity, broodiness, intensity, high persistency and they are no doubt in different ways, also probably inherited, from both the sire and the dam. It means that the trap-net and banding systems may single out the good producers, but a careful analysis of records must be done to find out the best producers.

After giving much care to secure birds from the best matings possible of pedigreed stock the problem of production for too many beginners seems to end. The mistake is paramount as results often show. Feeding at all times is in the mind of thoughtful breeders, one of the most intricate problems they are faced with.

The results of 16 years of this kind of work show real progress at Cap Rouge, and it is believed that this is due partly to breeding, partly to improvement in feeding and management. Starting with 4 per cent of hens which had laid over 150 eggs the first year, we are now working with birds having reached the 200 egg mark, with the eggs weighing at least 24 ounces to the dozen.

In order to make further improvements, pullet year egg production, egg weights, early maturity, standard qualifications, hatchability and mortality must be kept in mind in selecting females, while the young males to be used should be selected according to the average of the sister flock records, and should be vigorous and possess the standard qualifications.

I heard a wonderful story recently about Jackie Coogan, who edged into a big drug store in Hollywood and asked:

"Could you fix a dose of castor oil so the oil won't taste?"

"Certainly," said the chemist. "Won't you have a glass of ice cream soda while you're waiting?"

Jackie thought it was a splendid idea and drank the soda with relish.

"Anything else?" asked the chemist with a smile.

"No," said Jackie, "nothing but the oil."

"But you just drank it," grinned the chemist.

"Gee whizz!" exclaimed Jackie. "I wanted it for dad."

JUNIOR FARM CLUBS

Junior farm clubs in Alberta have reached their highest record this year, numbering 176 with over 2,800 members, a considerable increase over last year. Nine projects are involved, including wheat, oats, barley, alfalfa, potatoes, corn, beef and dairy calves, and swine. Over 40 fairs will be held by the swine club members during the next few weeks.

HOMESTEADS FOR

DRY AREA FARMERS

Through the provincial lands and mines department, a special area of homestead land in Northern Alberta south west of the Little Smoky River south of Falher, along the Northern Alberta Railways has been set aside for settlement by farmers from the drought areas in the south-eastern part of Alberta. Special regulations have been prepared, under which settlement of the new area will be carried out. The transfer of settlers will be undertaken through the provincial department of agriculture.

Under the re-settlement policy, some 190 families have been, since middle summer, removed from the dry area to various parts in Northern Alberta, and it is expected that the movement may total to 400 families.

OPEN SEASON FOR

RUFFED GROUSE

Close season on ruffed grouse has been ended for the time being, and shooting of these will be permitted between October 1 and 15, north of the Coronation line of the C.P.R. and north of the Red Deer River west of a point near Nevis.

ANNUAL BUFFALO

SLAUGHTER

The annual slaughter of buffalo at Wainwright Park will shortly be carried out, some 2,000 head to be killed. This is done as a measure of reducing the rapidly increasing herd, which has numbered 7,000 this summer.

CALGARY CELEBRATES

AN ANNIVERSARY

Calgary celebrated during the past week a unique anniversary, that of the arrival of the first passenger train into the settlement, 50 years ago, September 28, 1883.

OIL PRODUCTION

Oil production in Alberta for August totalled 87,192 barrels of which 82,299 was Turner Valley Naptha.

AUTUMN GRASS-

HOPPER BATTLE

Possibility of another outbreak of grasshoppers in southern Alberta next spring has led the Provincial department of agriculture to issue special warning to farmers to fall cultivate the land infested. Plowing infested stubble is the most effective tillage practice, but this must be done six inches deep with a mould board plough, with the furrow wheel inverted. Where this cannot be carried out satisfactorily, shallow cultivation with a disc, cultivator or harrow is recommended. Hopper eggs have already been noticed as far north as Elbow, Rumsey and Delburne.

PARASITE DESTROYING

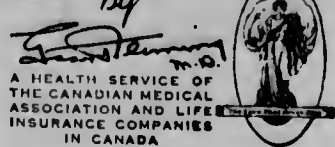

STORED GRAIN

(Claresholm Local Press)
Something new is happening in the grain trade. A microscopic organism is attacking the stored grain in the elevator bins and consuming or destroying the grain on the spot.

It is impossible to discern the organism without a glass of considerable power, but the results can be seen with the naked eye.

Departmental and grain company officials have been concerned for some time, but the fact

HEALTH

THE COMMON COLD

Every fall we have to consider the common cold, not because we wish to do so, but because it forces itself upon our attention. Nearly everyone contracts at least one cold during the year, and so everyone is interested in knowing what he may do to prevent or avoid colds.

We have all noticed how colds run through a family; first, one member has a cough or a sneeze and soon all the family are coughing, sneezing and blowing their noses. So it seems that whatever the living agent or germ is that causes a cold, it is passed along by those who have colds to those who have not.

The lesson to be learned from this is that the individual who has a cold should be isolated from the other members of the family. Bed is the best place for the person who has a cold; it is best for him and for others. By keeping him in bed, he is kept away from the family, and if his dishes and eating-utensils are boiled, there is comparatively little chance that the disease will spread. It is more simple to use paper handkerchiefs which can be burned; otherwise, handkerchiefs must be boiled.

Persons with colds who refuse to go to bed should cover their coughs and sneezes with a handkerchief, because the germ is present in the secretions of the nose and throat which are thrown broadcast by careless uncovered coughing, sneezing and expectoration. Unless dishes and eating-utensils are washed in very hot water, and common drinking-cups done away with, colds are sure to spread. The person who has a cold should never prepare or handle food that is to be used by others.

We can do much to avoid colds by building up our powers of resistance. There does not appear to be any doubt that those who live in overheated rooms, who wear too heavy clothing, and who overeat and take but little exercise are apt to fall victims to the common cold.

Good general health is our best protection. Good general health comes with proper food, fresh air, plenty of rest, regular exercise, body cleanliness and regular elimination. All of these are just as necessary in winter as they are in summer, and they can be had in winter as well as in summer.

The common cold occurs chiefly in winter, not because the air is cold at that time, but because we, when the air is cold, are apt to shut ourselves in and live by the hot stove, not getting out into the fresh air and not getting the exercise we need, while at the same time, eating less of fruits and green vegetables which are needed to balance our diet.

Questions concerning Health, addressed to the Canadian Medical Association, 184 College St., Toronto, will be answered personally by letter.

has not been generally known by the public.

Fine for a late snack

ALONG about bedtime when you begin to feel a little hungry, enjoy a bowl of Kellogg's Corn Flakes and milk or cream. It's just the treat. Easy to digest. Invites restful sleep. How much better than heavy, hard-to-digest foods.

Serve Kellogg's for the children's supper — and of course for breakfast or lunch. Made by Kellogg in London, Ont.

The Washington Senators took the third game of the World Series with a score of 4-0. It was a great game to listen to. Gordon Brewerton of Cardston was a Raymond visitor Thursday. . . . The first two games of the World Series Baseball clash went to the New York Giants with a 4-2 score on Tuesday and a 6-1 score on Wednesday, all the runs bunched in the sixth when the Senators blew up for a few minutes and allowed the ever dangerous Giants to get a couple of nice hits to start a scoring bee.

Setting A Standard

The close adherence of Alberta Pool Elevators to a high conception of service and a commendable standard of practices in dealing with patrons, has gained a reputation for the system that is known and appreciated among grain growers the length and breadth of this province.

The Road to RECOVERY

A Statement by the Prime Minister of Canada

WITHIN a few days the Dominion of Canada will offer for public subscription the 1933 Refunding Loan, the purposes and terms of which will be announced in detail by the Minister of Finance on Tuesday, October 10. In this national undertaking an opportunity will be afforded both for sound investment and for public service, and I have no doubts as to the readiness with which Canadian investors will respond.

I feel, however, that the 1933 Loan marks a point in Canadian affairs to which it is only proper that public attention should be drawn as a means of extending justifiable encouragement to many thousands of men and women who have endured adversity with such admirable fortitude.

With due precaution against unwarranted optimism I think I may say that in Canada we are now on the road to recovery. The road may be long and progress may be slow, but the events of the past six months appear to demonstrate with increasing clarity that the downward trend has come to a definite stop and that an upward trend is now in progress.

The evidence of improvement is written in the statistical facts of our industry and trade. These records show that our general economic condition reached its lowest point during the month of February last and that today we are definitely above that level following a recovery which has been gradual but persistent and unmistakable.

The most significant of these figures are probably those dealing with the physical volume of business, wholesale prices and employment, and I give here briefly the record of recovery in each case as shown by the reports of the Dominion Bureau of Statistics.

The index of our physical volume of business, which represents virtually the economic pulse of the nation, stood last February at 67.1. For August, the most recent month for which the index is available, the figure was 89.9, an improvement of approximately 34%.

Wholesale prices, in which even minor changes are highly significant, have risen over 9%, or from an index of 63.6 last February to one of 69.4 in August.

Employment, although still at a regrettably low level, has, nevertheless, been gaining steadily for the past five months. On the basis of partial reports from industrial employers some 116,000 persons have been added to pay-rolls since last April. An estimate by the Bureau on a more comprehensive basis places the total increase in employment at 216,000 during the same period.

Our external trade figures are equally encouraging. Both exports and imports have risen, with the former showing the more rapid increase. As a result, Canada had a favourable trade balance of over $114,000,000 in the twelve months ended August 31st this year. For the corresponding period last year the favourable balance was only $38,000,000, and in the two previous twelve months' periods instead of favourable figures we had unfavourable balances of $15,000,000 and of $103,000,000 respectively.

All these facts and figures I think we may quite safely take as sign-posts on the road to recovery. In our further progress, no single factor will have more significance than the success of our national loan operations. The recent 4% loan in London was a notable tribute to Canada's credit standing. It was immediately oversubscribed many times and now commands a substantial premium. I feel satisfied that our own people will be quick to perceive that the 1933 Refunding Loan in Canada is at once a challenge and an opportunity — a challenge to aid in the restoration of business recovery and an opportunity to serve thereby their own and their country's best interests.
